

Are you Engaged in your Child's Learning?

Part 1: AIM HIGH

One of the most powerful thing parents can do is to show children they believe in them and believe in their ability to be successful.

- ✓ Ask your child every day what they learnt at school or what they found interesting or fun in their day.
- ✓ Talking about the value of learning will instill a belief in your child that education and learning are important.
- ✓ Talk to your child often about the hopes, dreams and plans they have for the future.
- ✓ Let your child know you think it's important they do their best at school.

Here is an interesting link ... "The difference between Parent Engagement and Parent Involvement"

http://www.education.act.gov.au/teaching\_and\_learning/parental-engagement/progressing-parental-engagement

Aim high

One of the most powerful things you can do for your children is show them you believe in them and their ability to do their best at school.

Ask your child every day what they learnt at school or what they found interesting or fun in their day.

Talking about the value of learning will instill a belief in your child that education and learning are important.

Let your child know you think it's important they do well at school.

Talk to your child often about the hopes, dreams and plans they have for the future.

ACT
Government